

Tracey is based in London and is a partner in the dispute resolution team at Fieldfisher. She specialises in commercial and investor state arbitration and high court disputes. She has over 25 years' experience acting for clients in many jurisdictions on complex claims across sectors including, the energy sector, banking and finance, insurance and re-insurance, and aviation.

Fieldfisher is an international law firm with market leading practices. Working across 22 offices in 12 countries, Fieldfisher delivers commercial, pragmatic and innovative solutions based on an in-depth understanding of its clients' needs.